

roof was merely to scrape back the dirt, and remove the short sticks."—Geikie's Life and Words of Christ; vol. 2, fi. 22.

4. The word here translated "son " is riot huio (son), but teknon (a child), implying that the paralytic was young.
5. Jesus does not ask which is easier to do, but to say. One might say, "Thy sins are forgiven," and no one know whether it were so or not. This would be easy; but to say, " Rise up and walk," is a test of power to be determined by an outward demonstration. It is harder to say this and maintain it. To demonstrate the power of His word, He said that which would produce unquestioned evidence of His heavenly origin.
6. All traffic landed at Capernaum, either from across the lake, or by the highways, had to pay duties. Men were stationed at every avenue Ito collect these tolls, or taxes. These publicans became so greedy of gain as to be almost intolerable, and so received the execrations of the people. None were more hated. Every Israelite who became a publican was ostracized, and declared incompetent to bear witness in courts of law.. They were classed with robbers and murderers. The families of such were also disgraced. See Desire of Ages p, 272

NOTES

- IT would seem that the place chosen by the Saviour in which. temporarily to retire from public gaze, was east of the Sea of Galilee. A large part of this district was uninhabited, especially the cliffs, wherein were the monuments and tombs of the dead.:
Matt. 8 : 28.
- "These were of the rabbis or ' masters ' in Israel. They were called ' scribes ' from the Hebrew saphar (to write). The rabbinical law was known as the ' words of the Sopherim.' They were also named ' lawyers,' and doctors of the law,' because they taught the law to the people. They were sometimes referred to as Pharisees, because the large majority of them were of that sect, but all rabbis were not Pharisees, nor all Pharisees rabbis. Their influence was widespread, though their numbers were not large. On this occasion they came as spies,—emissaries from those who hated Jesus,—having before sought His life for healing a cripple. John 5 : 2-46."—Geikie's Life and Words of Christ, vol. 2, p. 578.
- "Eastern houses had outside stairs leading to the roofs. Matt. 24 : 17. The roof constructions were light rafters stretched from wall to wall, on which were thickly and evenly laid short sticks. Over these was a layer of fine brush-wood, with a coating of mortar next. Over all this was spread an earthy substance, composed of carbonate of lime, clay, and sand. In cases of poverty, common earth, mixed with ashes, lime, and chopped straw, was used. To break up such a
